

Rebecca M. Teasdale, PhD: Short Bio

Rebecca M. Teasdale is principal of Rebecca Teasdale & Associates. She has held leadership positions in urban and suburban public libraries and evaluated projects in libraries, museums, afterschool programs, universities, and professional development initiatives. Rebecca currently serves as an assistant professor of educational psychology at the University of Illinois at Chicago and project director of Embedding Evaluation in Libraries: Developing Internal Evaluators. She holds a BA in biology, an MA in library and information science, and a PhD in educational psychology with specialization in evaluation methodology.

Rebecca M. Teasdale, PhD: Long Bio

Rebecca M. Teasdale is principal of Rebecca Teasdale & Associates.

Her background includes more than 15 years of experience as a librarian and administrator in urban and suburban public libraries. She is also a professional evaluator and has evaluated projects in libraries, museums, afterschool programs, universities, and professional development settings funded by the National Science Foundation, National Institutes of Health, Institute of Museum and Library Services (IMLS), and Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation.

Currently, Rebecca serves as an assistant professor of educational psychology at the University of Illinois at Chicago and director of the IMLS-funded Embedding Evaluation in Libraries: Developing Internal Evaluators project.

Rebecca is an active member of the American Evaluation Association, Visitor Studies Association, American Library Association (ALA), and Public Library Association (PLA). She has served on PLA's Project Outcome Task Force, Public Library Data Service Statistical Report Advisory Committee, and Staffing Patterns and Workload Measures Committee; ALA's Committee on Research and Statistics; the Illinois Library Association's Executive Board and Conference Program Committee, and the Oregon Library Association's Intellectual Freedom Committee.

She holds a BA in biology, an MA in library and information science, and a PhD in educational psychology with specialization in evaluation methodology.